ALL DAY CELEBRATION TO BE HELD OCT. 1

S. A. T. C. Unit in University of Kentucky to Contain About 1100 Men

HOW WORK IS PLANNED

On October 1, the National Army Training Detachment at Camp Buell will become Section B, of the Students' Army Training Corps, and after that date all men in training at the University, fighting mechanics, naval students and those signed up for the Army will be in the S. A. T. C. unit, which will then be 1,100 strong.

All men, with the possible exception of the 200 in the Navy, will be housed in barracks now under construction on the Rose street side of the campus, and on October 1, under orders from the War Department, there will be an all-day celebration, including a review and other features to commemorate the establishment of the S. A. T. C. in the nation.

All members of the unit at the University will form a single unit for the purpose of instruction and training, which may consist of one or more sections. There will be a collegiate section, to be known as section A, and a vocational section to be known as section B.

The Committee on Education and Special Training, acting for the War Department, has entered into a temporary contract with the University for the housing, feeding, vocational and academic instruction of 700 men exclusive of the 412 who were sent to Camp Buell, and, under the permanent contract to be signed within two months, this number may be either increased or decreased, as facilities may make necessary.

Naval Officer in Charge.

Captain H. N. Royden, commandant at the University, is also commanding officer for the entire, S. A. T. C. unit, although it is probable that the Naval section will have a naval officer in charge. Orders from the Navy Department within the last week created a Naval section of the S. A. T. C., with a strength of 200, all of whom are wanted in the engineering colleges. Naval officers detailed here temporarily are now examining applicants for this section, and all who meet the physical requirements of the Navy will be inducted into the service October 1.

The Department has no contract with the University and those who enlist will be paid directly from that department, and may make their own arrangements with the institution about housing, board, and instruction.

Training Engineers.

If case 200 do not volunteer for engineering, the plan is to assign that number arbitrarily to that school, as the principal object of the department

NAVAL BRANCH IS ESTABLISHED AT U. K.

Ensign C. V. Derr, with a staff of surgeons and yeomen, has established headquarters in Mechanical Hall for examination and induction into the Naval Reserve Force as apprentice seamen all students who wish to enlist or transfer from the Army Unit of the S. A. T. C.

The Navy Department has assigned the University a quota of 200 men with a full engineering strength, and if that number of those enlisted in the Navy does not volunteer for engineering, students from other colleges will be brought here to fill the quota.

GRIDIRON PROSPECTS FOR YEAR ENCOURAGING

Team to be Built Around Nine Old Varsity Men

RIDDLE AND SHANKLIN

Football prospects at the University this year have Athletic Director S. A. Boles and Coach T. A. Gill full of confidence that the year will be a big one on the gridiron. With the enlarged student body, the two supervisors of the football operations will have a large number of prospects to draw from.

Captain H. N. Royden, whose patronage was solicited, has urged the athletes and students who are skilled in the sport to continue their efforts, because of the training given on the football field.

The team this year will be built around nine old Varsity men, who have entered with full spirit into the preparations. Those who are back this year are Captain Heber, who will lead the Wildcats, Murphree, Bastin, Baugh, Moore, Downing, Riddell, Dishman and Shanklin. Heber will again hold down one of the ends. Murphree, Bastin, Moore, Baugh and Downing are out to maintain their places as line men, and Riddell and Shanklin will be the nucleus of the backfield, which will have to be composed to a good extent of new material.

From the "Scrubs" of past years, and the products of high schools of the State, will come in the reserves to bolster up the line. Trying for center on the team are Boone and Kelly, two men who have previously sported the blue. At the guards and tackles a host of huskies are competing. There are Smith and Brown, Baugh, Walter Morris, a Lexington High School output, Bowmar, from Madisonville, Williams and Watkins, two new men, Burge, McGregor, Thompson and Herndon, Burge and Blaine, two men from Dry Ridge, and Draine.

The end positions are causing hot scramble. Raible, Richardson, Faulk-

VALE

Four of Kentucky's sons into our midst lately came,
Splendid boys, and soldiers, every one,

We knew them, and honored them,
These, our boys, and school-mates too.

Now they are gone—their course is run,

Their life's journey cut short by the hand of Fate.

Today they sleep beneath the earth's green sod,

Their presence a memory, a dream that is past.

We think of them now with a heart full of grief,

We cherish their memory with thoughts sincere,

And pray that we may meet them in a better land

When earth's sun for us has set.

Bill Shinnick Tells of Two Months at Front

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Bill Shinnick, University of Kentucky '17, now bearing the title of Lieutenant and to be addressed as "Somewhere in France," is the author of the following letter to his friend, Professor Noe. The Kernel is glad to see that the well remembered Shinnick wit is still on top and that Bill can keep smiling wherever he goes.

"France, August, 30,"

"My Dear Professor:

"As you probably know, I am here. As you may not know, I am resting in a little village whose dwellers are honest 'horny-handed agricultural sons of toil,' and 'hewers of wood; drawers of water.' (I have to get the old bromides out of the way before I can really do good work in a letter). We are resting because we were pretty tired after a little tangle with the enemies of peace and comfort. The Fourth was in all the good fighting for a couple of weeks and did—modesty forbids!—well. I went as far front as I had to, which was too far. Nobody except a damned liar will say he likes to be under shell-fire, or any other kind of fire. But back here we can look in retrospect over the wild unreality of terrific battle and smile at the nightmare. It's all so different from God's own peacefulness of rural France.

"One cannot wonder that the Frenchman fights so valiantly for his home; I can understand why every man has two countries, his own and France. I am, you see, a Francophile, and I am proud to be an humble ally of such

CALLED MEETING OF KERNEL PUBLISHERS

Persons whose names are on the Kernel staff, those new students in the University who have newspaper experience, and others who have been privately notified, are called to meet in the Journalism rooms in the basement of the Administration Building Saturday, at 11:45 o'clock. Applications for positions on the Kernel staff will be received there at that time.

Professor Enoch Grehan, head of the Department of Journalism, will make a short talk, telling the advantages of working with the Kernel. Old members of the staff will also make short talks.

MANY PHYSICAL CHANGES MADE ON CAMPUS

Barracks to Accommodate S. A. T. C. Will Soon Be Finished.

MODEL SCHOOL OPEN

Fulfilling her lofty ideals of loyalty and patriotism, the University of Kentucky is beginning the year 1918-19 in the service of her country, bending her every effort to make the most of the glorious opportunity afforded her to fall in line with the best of America's fighters.

In spite of the scarcity of labor, brought about by war conditions, the campus is gradually undergoing changes which will increase conveniences for the entire student body, altho they were intended primarily to accommodate the members of the S. A. T. C.

Both the old and new dormitories are being completely remodeled. The rooms of the former will be occupied by classes in Botany and in Music. The new dormitory has been placed entirely at the disposal of the State Board of Health. Barracks for the seven hundred students enrolled in the S. A. T. C. are being built on the southeast corner of the campus.

The gymnasium in Buell Armory is reserved for the men, and Mrs. Stout will meet her classes in the old cafeteria. Meals will be served under the direction of the Department of Home Economics in the new cafeteria which is now being furnished in the basement of the Administration Building. A new building is in the process of erection—an annex to Mechanical Hall, planned for the exclusive use of the men of Camp Buell.

Classes in Home Economics are held this year in the Agricultural Building. A model school, conducted in the Education Building will afford opportunity for practice teaching for students in the departments of Education and Home Economics.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL IS HELD ON CAMPUS

Students of University Pay Tribute to Comrades Killed in Accident

INJURED RECOVERING

Memorial services were held on the University campus Monday afternoon by the 1,100 members of the Students' Army Training Corps, the Naval Unit and the men of Camp Buell for Robert Warren Hardesty, of Fort Thomas, Virginia; Luther Mansfield, of Glasgow, Ralph Bamford Allington, of Newport, and George McDonald Gayle, of Erlanger, who met death about fifty miles from Lexington last Saturday evening, when an automobile in which they were riding ran into a head-on collision with the northbound Southern Railroad train for Cincinnati.

Thruout the service the 1,100 fellow-students stood at ease behind stacked arms, under the flag to which they had all consecrated their lives.

The program was as follows:

Color Line formed.

Song—"Columbia the Gem of the Ocean."

Present the Colors.

Song—"Star Spangled Banner."

Drape the Colors—Sings Chi.

Address—Dr. Benjamin Jay Bush.

Song—"Nearer My God To Thee."

Post the Color Guard.

Song—"Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Prayer—Dr. A. W. Fortune.

Dr. Bush in his address said in part:

"We ask the high privilege of standing in your midst today as fellow soldiers. We do not wear khaki as do you, but we are soldiers together. Your valor and sacrifice will avail but little, unless you can worthily call us fellow soldiers. We stand to share with you the sorrow that is yours, now that four brave comrades have fallen out of line and the ranks must close in and march forward.

"Standing beneath the stars one becomes an astronomer. Besides nature is born the naturalist, so beside an event like this we become world patriots. As we stand today beside four comrades, fallen early in their day of battle, so men are gathering at the hour of sunset in Belgium beside other brave—so, too, do men stand in many a fair garden of France and in many a deep valley in Italy beside their young and best who gladly gave their all. Some fell at the front, some far from the front, but they were in the service of their country and one honor awaits them all.

"It was on a little hill like this that one of our most gifted American sons stood, in memory of the young of his day, who had fallen and he said all that we could do was to take increased devotion from their memories. There are eight hands less to lift the world's load today. Eight clear, bright eyes are waiting in the long vigil. Eight ears will be deaf to all calls and four brave hearts will not throb to duty and service. Yet these hands will lift, these ears will hear, these eyes will see and these hearts will beat if they live in us and we live more worthily of them. Multiplied by the devotion of 500 young men to them they will live as perhaps it had not been given them to live in the flesh."

Captain Royden appointed four members of the S. A. T. C. to attend the funerals which were held Monday afternoon. The representatives, each of whom took floral designs with him were C. N. Batsel, for George Gayle; W. R. Campbell, for Virgil Mansfield; J. R. Mellander for Robert Hardesty, and G. H. Creech, for Robert Allington. John Price and Paul Anderson, Jr., were sent as representatives of the Sigma Chi fraternity, of which three of the men were members.

A committee of the faculty sent the following telegram of sympathy and condolence to the parents of each of the boys:

"The tragic and untimely death of your beloved son, that came almost within the hour in which he had offered his young life to his country and to humanity by dedicating his services to their defense, has so deeply moved his comrades in the University of Kentucky, both faculty and students, that they take this means, as their earliest opportunity to express their profound sympathy with his loved ones and their abiding sense of loss at his passing.

"Committee of Faculty of University of Kentucky."

At a meeting of the Law College, in which Robert Hardesty was a Junior, all those who had known him as a friend and on the campus, made short talks about him. A committee presented the following resolutions of sorrow at his death:

"Whereas Robert W. Hardesty, beloved student of the Law Department, being in his intellectual prime and splendid physical vigor, thereby giving us no warning to prepare for his great loss, met with an untimely death on the 21st of September and

"Whereas we have known Robert W. Hardesty in every way to have been a gentleman who enjoyed the profound respect and deep affection of every member of this body, be it hereby resolved by his colleagues of the Law Department,

"First, That we extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement and grieve with them over the death of him, whom we loved as a true friend and as a man, honorable, earnest, industrious, straightforward, and untiring whose loss has made a gap which cannot be filled, either in this University or in our State:

"Secondly, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased;

"Thirdly, That they be published in the Kentucky Kernel, Lexington Leader, Lexington Herald, and Cincinnati Enquirer.

Y. M. C. A. FOR S. A. T. C.

For the past month the War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. has had an experienced army secretary stationed at Camp Buell. While at the Trotting Track camp site the Y. M. C. A. rooms were located in the first floor of the grandstand and supplied opportunity for letter writing, magazine and book reading, and for music both vocal and instrumental. Religious meetings were held and many entertainments. In the Camp Buell bi-monthly publication "Over Here," the soldiers' appreciation was expressed in glowing terms. Free telephone service was furnished and all mail matter handled by the Y. M. C. A.

Since Camp Buell has been moved to the new barracks on the University Campus there has been no definitely assigned location for the Y. M. C. A. work and the lack of writing and mailing facilities is sorely felt. The middle rooms on the first floor of the barracks, originally planned for the Y. M. C. A. use have been needed as squad rooms and thus the "Y" has been forced to limit its operations for the time being.

On Saturday evening the opening week of the University school year the Army Y. M. C. A. gave a welcoming reception for the men students about to be sworn into government service in the Students' Army Training Corps. After an interesting program the students practiced the favorite army songs in a promising manner.

It is quite evident that an Army Y. M. C. A. Building to be used as a recreational center is absolutely needed in the University cantonment embracing both the S. A. T. C. and Camp Buell. Upon the success of the campaign for funds in the November drive of the united war work organizations depends the possibility of an army "Y" hut at the University of Kentucky. If the Bluegrass State lives up to her reputation and subscribes her full quota of the war activities fund in November, a building for the 1,400 students in training is assured.

Secretary Sellers, formerly executive of Unit No. 74, at Camp Sherman, Ohio, has been named Camp General Secretary here and after October 1st, he will be assisted by J. W. Penman. After the construction of a Y. M. C. A. building, a staff of at least four secretaries will be maintained. An athletic as well as social and religious secretary will be needed. Moving pictures will be offered and the long weeks without furloughs will thus be shortened. It is hoped that the campaign for funds in November will prove successful and that a building may be assured for Camp Buell and the Students' Army Training Corps at Kentucky.

LIEUT. PODLESK ARRIVES TODAY

Lieutenant Podlesak, of Chicago, has been detailed as personal adjutant to Captain H. N. Royden, commandant of the University, and will arrive today or tomorrow. The Lieutenant, who has been at Fort Sheridan, will take charge of the papers and ratings of the S. A. T. C. members.

TIGERT NOW WITH AMERICAN Y. M. C. A.

Writes of His Visits to Historical Points in Scotland.

Dr. John J. Tigert, one of the best friends that the students have in the faculty, is on leave of absence for one year, and is now with the American Y. M. C. A. in England. Dr. Tigert writes of the many historic places he has visited, especially in Scotland.

"Tige" was professor of Philosophy, Logic and Psychology at the University and at one time foot ball coach.

His letter to Professor Noe follows:

"I dropped you a card from Edinburgh recently, just after receiving your long and interesting epistle. I certainly did enjoy my visit to Edinburgh in many ways, the most beautiful and most interesting place I have visited. It combines in a degree 'that glory that was Greece and that grandeur that was Rome,' for it is built upon hills and has two Acropolises. I have greatly belabored myself in a way because now I have to read most of the Waverly words again, as every nook and corner of Edinburgh is the scene of something in one of those words just as London recalls Dickens at every turn.

Edinburgh radiates three great figures, Scott, Queen Mary and Jno. Knox. Of course, most of the interest of tourists is drawn to the romantic tho pathetic personage of Mary Stuart. Much of her is still recalled by her apartments in both the old castle and in Holyrood castle. In the latter one can see her bed room with its original furnishings as well as the little supper-room in which she was supping with Rizzio when the deep tragedy of Holyrood occurred. There is the very spot where the unfortunate secretary was found with 57 dagger wounds. I saw also on my way hither the Loch-lever, and the castle from which Mary made her famous escape.

Going back to Edinburgh, John Knox's house, built before America was discovered is still in a fair state of preservation, and much of the original interior remains, tho the exterior has undoubtedly been restored.

In the old city, I sought out the spot where Scott was born (now marked by a tablet only), and in the new city there stands today the house where the great novelist lived for 28 years. Not far hence is the house where Shelley lived after his elopement and also the house where David Hume was living at the time of his death. The National Picture Gallery is not comparable to the best galleries in Europe, but contains the best work of Lord Raeburn, who lived in Edinburgh.

If you had been with me lately, I am sure that the world would have been the gainer by more than one good poem. The pass of Killiecrankie would have been good for one masterpiece, I know.

I found in Edinburgh that I could get good slides made of anything I wanted at a half crown each (about 60 cents). I wonder if you would like for me to get some before I come back for the Education Department. Let me know whether you would like them, and how many you want and I shall be glad to bring them back. The architecture and history of Edinburgh make it most desirable for this kind of thing.

Too bad how all the good pictures come to town when you don't go, but that's the way it goes. By the way,

SALUTATION.

The Kernel wishes to extend cordial greeting to the new members of the faculty who have come to the University in this, the greatest year of its history.

Never have its prospects been so bright, and never has there been a list of instructors so notable in scholarship, so marked in ability, or so consecrated in purpose. In every college and in almost every department are newcomers to the faculty who have already caught the spirit of University of Kentucky tradition, and who are working harmoniously with their new associates for the great results that are promised this year.

To all those who have come to be with us this year, and we hope for many years, The Kernel extends best wishes and again a welcome, with the abiding hope that "All their ways may be ways of pleasantness, and all their paths, paths of peace," and that their labors may be crowded with that measure of success that has always been the chief reward of earnest men and women.

OPTIMISM AND SERVICE, THE SLOGAN.

Activity moves apace as The University of Kentucky enters upon the big business of the year. With a glorious feeling of optimism hundreds of students catch step as they fall into line and begin the march onward and upward, toward a record mark.

The campus, radiant with a smile which stretches from "Patt" Hall to the "Ag" building, blushes with new color. The scene sparkles with the comings, goings and comings-back of those who make the rainbow panorama ever-changing—the khaki of the soldier-students, the blue of the Navy men, the fresh pink tints of fair co-eds joining with the emerald glare furnished by the pyrotechnics of the Freshmen, to make the gleam iridescent.

The limitations of the human eye make it impossible for one to catch sight of the vast operations set in motion. Could some super-optic with X-ray power, mount the Main Building and view the spectacle, what an "eye full" would be furnished.

The greatest single added feature is the installation of the "War College," whose task will be the equipment for skilled and distinctive service, of young men to take their places among the fighting forces of the nation.

So strong, so clear, rings out the martial note, that the casual observer could not fail to hear it. Thru the creation of the Students' Army Training Corps, and the selection of the University by virtue of recognized merit to become one of the two naval training colleges of the West, in cooperation with the technical training for men chosen from the State thru the selective draft, the institution becomes one of particular opportunity.

The alertness, determination and ardor with which the male students have entered preparation for military service and have begun to "carry on" stamps them as fit for their task. Everywhere the disposition seems to indicate willingness to work and learn, eagerness to excel.

It was not without some handicap that the first week was entered. The noisy clamor of the carpenter, the odor of the painter's turpentine, do not require the eye or ear of a Sherlock, for detection. But if there is some disorder and confusion, it is a happy confusion.

Prospects everywhere are bright. The serious aspects of its duty in this war time, seems to be realized by the student body. The attitude seems to be to hew to the line of disciplined endeavor, let the chips off the old block of collegiate frivolity fall where they may.

The sun shines bright.

Let the band play—if there is a band hereabouts, and if not, tune up the piano. Let the tune be "The Star Spangled Banner," instead of "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here."

All hail, the War College!

Heads up, eyes to the front.

Forward, March.

PATTERSON AND MAXWELL HALLS FULL OF GIRLS

Various changes marked the opening of Patterson Hall this year. The enrollment of Freshmen is larger than usual. Maxwell Hall, an additional dormitory, has been opened for the first time in years to accommodate the overflow. Mrs. Brown, of Sharpsburg, is the matron at the new hall.

Miss Stevens, of the University of Wisconsin, is the new dietitian and assistant house director, taking Miss Elizabeth Pickett's place. Miss Pickett will be a student at the University.

Miss Stevens is propagating a new cafeteria plan of service at breakfast and lunch. This will abolish a larger number of serving girls.

Many of the former Patterson Hall girls are boarding out in town.

Several of the girls attended summer school here; some had positions, doing Government canning work; a few taught or did settlement school work, and many had various unclassified positions.

ATHLETICS PERMITTED IN S. A. T. C. COLLEGES

According to a telegram received from the War Department athletics will be encouraged in S. A. T. C. colleges provided that the commanding officer of the school be in charge of the athletic direction, and that no extended trips or specialized training may interfere with drill and study. This order, which revoked the former order against athletics, brightens the outlook for the University's athletic season tremendously.

Y. W. C. A. PLANS WORK FOR COMING YEAR

The University organization of the Y. W. C. A. held its first meeting of this year in Patterson Hall, Sunday evening, September 22.

The program consisted of a welcome speech to the new girls by Miss A. E. Crane, house director of Patterson Hall, and the rendition of several violin selections by Dr. Karl Lambert, head of the Department of Music.

Miss Mildred Graham, president, and leader of the evening, introduced the cabinet. It is Ruth Duckwall, vice president and chairman of the World Citizenship Committee; Austin Lilly, secretary and chairman of the Publication Committee; Elizabeth McGowan, treasurer and chairman of the Membership Committee; Mary Beall, chairman of the Social Service Committee; Louise Will, annual member and in charge of the industrial work; Lucy Dean, chairman of the Morning Watch Committee; Adele Slade, program chairman.

The Y. W. C. A. has made plans for a year of great success since it has several large projects in mind and means to carry them out. One of these is the establishing of a hostess house on the campus, to benefit the men in training.

BOYS OVER THERE

"Four months ago I arrived at one of the Atlantic ports. Two months we spent at the front; those two months saw the change in the fortunes of the world. We were resolute before the 15th of July; we are confident, certain, now that the Beast is thru with everything save the effort to keep his own hide from being made to look like a sieve. Peace will not come at once, but time fights for us now. One more year should end the struggle.

"I wish you could be here to see some of the things I have had the fortune to see; that you might gild the wreckage of war with the warmth and color of sympathetic words; that thru the genius of your pen you could make immortal the most transient of events. For war is only that. There is no feeling of permanence to any of its phases. It's poisoned gases dissipate as they fall; its mangled iron rusts and is covered with the blessed greenery; its personnel changes. It is of all human works the most illogical and most awful. But there is hope. More, there is the certainty of a greater happiness and an enduring peace. From chaos shall come order; from Death, Life itself shall spring. "God's in his heaven; all's well with the world." To return: I wish you could or rather would, write a verse or two on the rose bush which climbed over the pulverized walls of a "petite maison," near the lines and spread its blooms over the body of the German soldier who fell under its sanctuary.

What of the shrine at the crossroads, with its arms broken and its pedestal shattered, but with the figure of the Christ still uninjured? Such subjects are peculiarly yours. I wish I had the poetic touch, but sadly enough I never shall have that. Once I had the inclination, never the ear. Now I have neither. I am too near it all and too engrossed in the business of war to tell of it, either by the ream or by the metre. But I have my ideas that are not exactly the ideas of a year ago. Many of them are not radically changed, they are only mellowed and less absolute.

"It seems that I am maundering, wavering hither and yon and arriving nowhere. An amateur with an unaccustomed fountain pen is as dangerous as a lion among the ladies, at least to the poor old English language. I will get down to facts.

"I am billeted with the mayor of the town, in company with four officers. We get on well with everything but the language; my shoulders are not loose enough to talk it. Our vocabulary comprises "oui," "tout de suite," and "comprends pas." Uncle Sam takes good care of us, our food and comforts are ample and our superiors men of real ability and kindness. We get daily papers from Paris and the mail from home is satisfactory, tho not super-abundant. The doings of the campus and the Canterbury Club and the University itself are still very interesting to me and I keep up pretty well. I have been getting the Lexington Herald and Leo S. sent me the commencement program. It's all pretty near to me yet. I hear Johnny Cramer got mad and married Maury Crutcher. I sent 'em a note, "Advice to young married people," and it must have been pretty good. They haven't had time to answer yet, or else they are a bit angry with me. I can't help it. I have to be facetious sometimes.

I just wrote a letter to Prof. Farquhar, who is still with the faculty, I trust. I told him about the country and Paris, where I spent two days. Paris is a wild burg.

"If you can spare an hour, write me a note sometime. I will appreciate it.

"Best wishes,

"BILL SHINNICK."

BUY LIBERTY BONDSTRACK MEET WITH HUN
PLANNED BY J. F. CORN*First Lieutenant Wants to Go And Get Croix
de Guerre

First Lieutenant James F. Corn, formerly J. Franklin Corn, Editor-in-chief of the Kernel, says in a letter to the present editor of the Kernel, which was received yesterday, that he is fast getting in trim for a track meet with the Hun. Lieutenant Corn is with the 46th U. S. Infantry.

While in the University, Corn was an outstanding student. In addition to three years' connection with the Kernel, Corn made his letter in football and was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

His letter follows in full:

"Long years ago, when my chubby and rotund form adorned the chair of ye editor of the Kernel, the custom was to reward old and broken down ex-editors with life subscriptions to the sheet for which they had so long and faithfully labored for a period of one and a half hours each day preceding the date of issue. If the above mentioned custom be still in vogue my address is above. If not, put me on your subscription list regardless of the fact and I will pawn an O. D. shirt and mail you subscription price. I have two shirts at present (which is more than I had while in college), and can wear the other one until pay day.

"For fifteen months I have been waiting for an opportunity to go over and get the Croix de Guerre which is waiting for me but it seems that the General Staff is holding this regiment as a strategic reserve. We have been in every post in this country except two or three, I think. In the winter we move north, in the summer south, and so on. At last, however, Fortune is smiling. We are one of the units of the 9th division, which is now full of parleyvoo officers who are fast getting us trained for our track meet with the Hun. At present Fritz seems to be breaking all records. Bill Shinick is still in France and is managing to spare enough time from "the immortal trio," to take an occasional smack at the Germans.

"Please give my regards to Prof. Grehan, Profs. Noe, Dantzer, Zembrod, Lafferty, Chalkley and such other of my old friends as you may see. Wish I had time to write to my old friends occasionally, but I cannot even find time for writing home. The old U. K. friends claim many a happy and pleasant thought, I assure you."

ALL DAY CELEBRATION

in establishing the unit is to secure officer material to meet the engineering needs of the Navy.

All enlisting will be inducted as apprentice seamen, and on the completion of their courses at the University, may be sent to various officers' school.

The College of Engineering is working under new schedule provided by the Navy Department, whereby instruction is given in eight terms of three months each. It will be the policy of the department to keep each man in school until his course is completed.

WOMEN'S COURSE IN NURSING TO BE GIVEN

Authorities of the University are considering the establishment of a pre-nursing course to train women students and assist civilian and army hospital training schools to meet the great demand for well trained nurses.

The request for the course came to President McVey, from the Committee on War Service Training for women college students of the American Council of Education, together with a request for the words from Surgeon General William Gorges of the War Department. Dean P. P. Boyd, of the College of Arts and Science and Dr. J. W. Pryor, head of the Department of Anatomy and Physiology took up the matter with the board of the Good Samaritan Hospital and asked that the students, electing such a course be allowed to go to the hospital. The authorities are now awaiting an answer to the request.

This course, which has been prescribed by the Council of Education, was given at the summer session of Vassar College this past summer, and was quite satisfactory to the Red Cross, General Gorgas and the General Medical Board of the National Council of Defense. Three months of intensive training were given in chemistry, bacteriology, hygiene and sanitation, psychology and sociology of nursing, history and ethics of nursing, physiology, elementary nursing and hospital economy, and special lectures. General Gorgas believes this course will relieve the situation, created when 50,000 of the 80,000 trained nurses of the United States are called into the government service by January 1.

Some of these courses are already offered in the University, but there is no opportunity for practice, without which the course is valueless. The board of the Good Samaritan Hospital may be unable to grant the request of the University, because of the sixty now in its training school, and in that case it is improbable that the course will be established.

GRIDIRON PROSPECTS

ner, Muth, Gregg, Deane, Bishop, De Brovy, and Parker are among the old men out. George Zerfoss, whose amblings from college to college have kept him ineligible heretofore, is eligible this year, and is out for one end.

The quarterbacks, in addition to the veteran Riddell, are Bartlett, a new man from Owensboro, Lavin, Hubbard and others. At full back, Stevens, of Stearns, and Bland, of Cynthiana, are trying out. Snoddy, of Owensboro, Redford of Hopkinsville, Barnett, Edwards, Propps, who sparked out a bit last year, and others are among the new men. Others who have appeared for practice are Parks, Roberts, Eaker, Burnham and Cameron.

UNIVERSITY CLUBS BEGIN YEAR'S WORK

The numerous organizations, clubs and societies of the University have not yet got into good working order. Many have not held their first meetings, but definite plans have been made for the year's work.

The Union Literary Society is an organization for the men of the University. It is the oldest of literary associations, and was formed in 1872 by a consolidation of the Yost Club and the Ashland Institute, now operating under a charter from the legislature. The society meets every Saturday evening for debate and declamation.

Patterson Literary Society.

The Patterson Literary Society is another organization for the men of the University. It was formed in 1887 and named in honor of the president of the University. The nature of its work is along the same line as the Union Literary Society.

Henry Clay.

The Henry Clay Law Society is composed of law students. At the meetings which are held once each week in the Science Building, the students, by actual practice learn the rules of parliamentary law and their use in deliberative assemblies. They organize legislative assemblies and learn the procedure in the framing and passage of bills, both State and Federal.

History Club.

The History Club is composed of instructors and students of the Department of History. All those interested in this field of work will be welcomed as members to the meetings which are held once a month in the rooms of the department in the Education Building.

English Club.

The English Club was organized under the auspices of the Department of English. It is composed of the instructors in this department and those students majoring in English. Meetings are held once a month to discuss questions of importance along this line. Talks are given on the works of many of the modern prominent writers, both by the students and professors. A social hour usually follows the evening's program.

The dates and places of the meetings of the societies will be announced later. It is urged that every student ally himself with the organizations that is in line with his work. Watch the bulletins for exact dates.

Horace Mann.

The Horace Mann Literary Society held the first meeting of the year in its new auditorium in the Education Building, Thursday night. The meeting was one of interest and enthusiasm and the large crowd that attended heard talks by Professors Baker, Miller and Noe.

This society, for both men and women of the University, was organized under the auspices of the Department of Education and is open to all education majors and minors and also any other students who are interested in the subject.

The Strollers.

The Strollers is the dramatic organization of the University. Each year a play is given in Lexington and usually is taken on the road.

To the new students it may be said that membership to the Strollers can be gained only by "coming out" Amateur night, which is usually held on Halloween. Only those that are members will be able to try out for the play.

A meeting of the society has not yet been called by the president, Grover Creech, but announcements concerning it and other Stroller plans will be made later.

Philosophian Society.

The Philosophian is a literary society for the women of the University, for literary improvement and social pleasures. It meets in Patterson Hall on Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.

So far a meeting has not been called, but rumors of many interesting plans are in the air. A circus is being talked of, also another play at the Opera House. The exact dates of these affairs and also more definite instructions concerning them will be announced later.

The presiding officers of the society are: Elizabeth McGowan, president; Louise Will, vice president; Margaret Woll, secretary; Louise Mayer, treasurer; Elizabeth Spurrier, critic, and Lucy Dean, Sergeant-at-Arms.

KERNEL TO PRINT LIST OF FACULTY FOLKS

The Kernel, noting the half-hundred new faces among the faculty of the University, wished to present to the students a complete list of new mentors, but owing to the fact that the record in its entirety was unavailable on account of the rush of registration, such was impossible at this time. The Kernel hopes to have this information for its next issue.
